

Michael A. Caplin | President

Michael Caplin is chief executive of Turtle Island Consulting, specializing in strategic planning for non-profit and philanthropic organizations.

Mr. Caplin has worked in the non-profit arena for 20-years as director and manager of an array of arts, education and social service agencies including the Lincoln Theater Foundation, the Smithsonian Institution and Childhelp USA. For his work on behalf of children in crisis he received the Northern Virginia Leadership Award, the Governor's Commendation for Outstanding Service to the Commonwealth and a Certificate of Excellence from the Virginia Department of Social Services.

Mr. Caplin has also served as a public defender, a federal prosecutor, counselor to performing artists, an educator and a businessman. He is a graduate of Swarthmore College, University of Virginia Law School, and Georgetown University Law School, and holds an Executive Certificate in Nonprofit Management from Georgetown University Center for Public & Nonprofit Leadership. He is President of the Board of The New York Center for Children and Vice-Chair of The Phoenix Project.